

$4.5 million school loans require more staff cuts

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

With Granite City school borrowing now at $2,863,000 and headed for a record $4,500,000 this summer, additional staff cutbacks appear inevitable, Supt. B. J. Davis said after a 5-segment, 4½-hour board session Tuesday night.

Helping provide flexibility for such reductions, 11 faculty members and administrators received board approval Tuesday to retire in June 1983 and seven others were authorized to retire in June 1984.

Among those retiring a year from now will be: Vasil Efthymiou, administrative assistant for pupil personnel services; Mrs. Ruth Lahr, director of the federal Title I instructional program; and Edward Blumek, a former grade school principal now teaching physical education at Prather Junior High.

Others with June 1983 retirement dates are Helen Kuenster, GCIS South English; Albert Zeblo, South social studies; Dorothy Lakin, Mitchell middle intermediate; Guy Lahr Jr., Maryville middle intermediate; Anna Harn, Cowlidge physical education; Ella Reynolds, South home economics; and Muriel Kratz, South Spanish teacher.

Those retiring in two years will include: Thomas Noth, administrative assistant for computer services; Calvin Bartels, Prather Junior High principal; and Fred Noth, principal of Logan Elementary School.

Others retiring in June 1984 will include Dorothy Mitchell, South physical education; Robert B. Cowan, North social studies; June Mills, Prather counselor; and Evelyn Laux, North library.

Reviewing school finances, Director of Finance Norman S. Owca told the board, "As of May 31, 1982, School District Nine has borrowed $2,721,000 of its projected January proposal to borrow $3 million for the 1981-82 school year to support the education fund. Also, $142,000 of the $350,000 February proposal has been borrowed in regard to the building fund.

"These figures would have been considerably lower but the corporate personal property replacement taxes we have received have been smaller than predicted for the first half of 1982.

"Because of tax protests, we received $268,099 less corporate replacement taxes in the education fund and $36,212 less in the building fund. If the tax protests are denied, the monies held in an escrow account will be released to us.

"Our cash flow problems will be compounded further by the fact that the state government is going to delay our June 1982 state aid check of $941,749 until July.

"Ordinarily, tax bills are mailed June 1, with the first payment due July 1 and the second payment due Sept. 1. However, there is every indication that the 1981 real estate tax bills will be mailed Aug. 1, making the first payment due Sept. 1 and the second due Nov. 1. This creates the need to increase our borrowing to continue to support the 1982 year until we receive our 1981 taxes.

"I have revised the education and building funds' June cash flow charts and projected our needs for July and August. When the 1982-83 state aid formula and summer-fall 1982 tax collections are certain, I will prepare new cash flow charts through December.

"In the meantime," Owca concluded, "I request that the board adopt resolutions granting approval for the issuance of additional 1981 tax anticipation warrants not to exceed $1,500,000 in the education fund and $400,000 in the building fund for use as needed, from June 15 until Aug. 31."

Board approval was given for the added borrowing, which would increase the present amount owed to $4,231,000 for the education fund and $542,000 for the building fund, a total of $4,773,000. Owca said he believes the borrowing will not exceed $4,500,000.

Even though some elements of the current financial shortfall are unusual—and some of the circumstances may not be repeated—school officials indicated they believe the record borrowing stems from a serious problem.

With substantial constraints currently on both state and federal school aid, and local voters unwilling to authorize higher property taxes, the schools are faced with an imbalance between their revenue and their spending.

A board discussion Tuesday brought out that anticipation of future education fund taxes is limited to 85 percent of the levy. At present, that limit is $5,100,000, Owca estimated.

Board Secretary Robert Maxwell noted that the presently authorized borrowing is near the legal limit, and Board Member Thomas Mufley said an enough worse financial squeeze

GC negotiators, police approaching 'deadlock' over lack of pay raises

By GEORGEANN McGEHEE
of the Press-Record

Granite City Police Department union negotiators will meet with their membership Monday to determine if members wish to accept the city's offer of a no wage increase one-year contract or to support their committee's expanded recommendation of a two-year contract that delays pay hikes until 1983-84.

Alderman Paul Fisk, chairman of the city's negotiating committee, asked the council to meet in a closed session Tuesday night to discuss what he called deadlocked contract talks between the city and police union.

The issue is a money dispute, Fisk said. The city could be seeking binding arbitration if the stalled talks do not progress, he told the council. "It's a deadlocked situation," Fisk summarized.

Mayor Paul Schuler said the aldermanic negotiating committee has been given clear instructions in the last few months on the contract limitations the council is imposing. Earlier, Alderman Casner Skubish, a member of the negotiating committee, said the committee has been given nothing to offer any of the five city unions which opened contracts this year.

Detective Sgt. Don Knight, head of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), Local 113, representing the police force, said he did not view the issue as deadlocked yet. "We wouldn't know that until the next union meeting," he said.

At that meeting, he said he will recommend a two-year contract with a pay increase written into the second year of the contract, although he would not comment on the amount of the increase.

"We're willing to go along with no raises this year," Knight said, but felt the time has come for the aldermen to "get their house in order."

The city also is negotiating with city clerical employees represented by the AFSCME.

The Granite City Wastewater Treatment Plant employees, International Union of Operating Engineers, Local 525, already has agreed to a two-year contract with no wage increases.

The city's $11.2 million tentative budget, which started May 1, is based on no salary increases.

Close underpass for 3 months

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

Preliminary work leading up to closing the Broadway underpass in mid-August for major repairs, and reports concerning improvements to the Venice boat launching area on the Mississippi River and the McKinley Bridge were topics occupying the Venice City Council at its meeting Tuesday night.

Considerable discussion also focused on measures to enforce repair, clean up, renovation or demolition of several abandoned or severely deteriorated residential properties in the community.

Later in the meeting, the aldermen heard a delegation of Klein Avenue residents voice concern about increasing vandalism and break-ins in their area and express willingness to cooperate with city officials and police in helping to reduce problems.

After a suspension of rules, the council adopted on first reading an agreement with the City of Madison and the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT), which will facilitate the start of repair work at the Venice underpass (subway) on Broadway.

IDOT will make repairs to the collapsed storm sewers and substructure drainage grid system beneath the pavement which carries the relocated

GC unemployment 16 percent

The unemployment picture improved somewhat during April, but the news still is not good, the Illinois Department of Labor announced Tuesday.

Unemployment declined in Granite City from 16.7 percent in March's final figures to 16.0 percent in the preliminary April figures, according to Velda Gersenecker of the Research and Analysis Division of the state's Department of Labor.

"Almost all areas continue to exceed national and state rates of unemployment. Weak seasonal trends provided a downturn in the jobless rate. It is anticipated that this decline will extend into the month of May," she predicted.

Granite City continued to lead the major cities in the area in unemployment again in April. In comparison to the 16 percent in Granite City, Belleville's rate fell from 15 percent in March to 14 percent in April. Alton's unemployment was 12.2 percent that month and East St. Louis had an unemployment rate of 10.5 percent, the figures indicated.

All showed an improvement from March, except Alton, where unemployment climbed one-tenth of a percent during April.

Area-wide, however, Madison County workers fared better than those in some other counties during April. Of 121,000 persons in the workforce in Madison County during the month, 13,525 were actively seeking jobs, or 11.2 percent. That is lower than the 17.3 percent unemployed in Calhoun County, the 13.4 percent in Jersey County and the 11.9 percent in Clinton County. Bond County fared better with unemployment improving from 11.3 percent in March to 10.6 percent in April. St. Clair County's unemployment dipped from 10.9 percent to 10.2 percent and Monroe County enjoyed the lowest rate of unemployment at 8.5 percent in April, according to the preliminary figures.

The Granite City workforce increased from 18,965 to 19,026 between March and April while the number of persons listed as officially unemployed declined from 3,172 to 3,057, according to Mrs. Gersenecker. The number Granite City residents gainfully employed, however, remained stable with 15,969 working in March and 15,969 working in April, the figures show.

Statewide preliminary figures show that 563,000 potential workers were unemployed during April of a workforce of 5,572,000, an unemployment rate of 10.1 percent.

Rev. Twietmeyer leaving GC

REV. TWIETMEYER

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

The Rev. Arvin Twietmeyer will lead his congregation at Concordia Lutheran Church in worship for the last time Sunday, June 6, at the 10:15 a.m. service.

The minister was installed as Concordia's pastor on Dec. 5, 1954, more than a quarter-century ago. Several special activities are planned at the church this weekend to honor Rev. and Mrs. Twietmeyer.

The first week in June also marks the 40th anniversary of Pastor Twietmeyer's graduation from Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, where he attended a reunion of class members this week.

The removal in 1869 of the old St. Paul's Church and school building, which was constructed in 1912 and stood next to the present Concordia Lutheran Church, 23rd Street and Grand Avenue, and its replacement with the new parish hall—education wing in 1961, marked the high point of his career at Concordia, the minister said.

As a congregational family, Concordia will feel its retiring pastor on Saturday evening, June 5, with a dinner to which the membership will bring covered dishes.

Joining in the celebration with Pastor and Mrs. Twietmeyer will be their four children and their families—Mrs. Dorcas Fisk of Troy, Pastor Mark Twietmeyer of Chicago, Mrs. Berth Bradshaw of Lenexa, Kan., and Miss Sherah Twietmeyer of Granite City.

"After one has six grandsons, he can retire," the minister commented.

What's in a name

By GARRY N. MURPHY
English Prof. SUE

Following your fingers through the White Pages is enough to remind you that people have some pretty weird monikers.

Less weird than interesting, though, are proper names derived from occupations, real or fancied.

There are those associated with high social rank: King, Queen (e), Prince, Duke, Noble, Earl, Knight.

From the clergy there are: Bishop, Priest, Parsons.

From the trades: Cartwright, Wainwright, Wheelwright (all wagon makers), Joiner (cabinet-maker), Tinker (but not Evers and Chance), Cooper, Hooper (barrel makers), Scriber (scribe), Butcher, Baker, Chandler (the candlestick maker), Potter, Glover, Taylor, Butler, Farmer, and the ubiquitous Smith.

Moreover, the process can be reversed, so that a person's name becomes a generic term.

The word "maverick" (a loner) comes from Samuel Maverick (1803-1870), who slyly refused to join fellow ranchers in putting a personal brand on cattle and later began claiming all unbranded strays as his.

"Dunce," strange to say, comes from Duns Scotus, the medieval philosopher, who was anything but a "dunce." During the Renaissance, his brand of scholasticism fell into disrepute and his followers—"Dunsmen"—were regarded as foolishly old-fashioned in their thinking, and then the word gradually came to refer to one who does no thinking at all.

Personal names also lie behind each of these common words: bowdlerize, boycott, chauvinist, gardenia, leotard, macadam, sadism, sandwich, spoonerism, saxophone, wit.

North tours eight area schools

Students enrolled in the Granite City High School North Speech Department Children's Theatre classes have completed a two-day acting tour at seven Community Unit District 9 schools and one area parochial school.

Peppermint Players in Fifth Hour toured Mitchell, Nameoki, Wilson and Parkview elementary schools. The Third Hour Children's Theatre Class toured Lake Maryville, Johnson and St. Margaret Mary elementary schools.

"The Dancing Princesses," performed for the students, was directed by Dr. Goni Michaeloff, speech department chairman, who also designed the scenery and decorations.

Scenery was built by Scott Foote. Costumes were furnished by the students, and the speech department costume shop. Dave Trokey selected music for the production.

"The Dancing Princesses," a one-act play, is the story of a young village blacksmith attempting to win a kingdom by helping supply a group of princesses with a plentiful supply of dancing slippers.

Leaders of the Peppermint Players, who introduced the play and mood of the production, are Jeanne Trimmer, Kimberly Woodward, Lauri Machino, Karla Venarsky and Kimberly Smith.

Fifth Hour Children's Theatre Class participants are Eric Rainwater, T. Brewer, Mike Salem, Keith Bono, John Wyrostek, Lonnie Watson, James Moad and Jane Hicks. Also, Maria Vlahon, Rhonda Mohon, Tracey Morris, Beth Warnecke, Connie Borrar, Loretta Hamlett, Tonya Poole, Johnna Williams, Andrea Maass, Cindy Minner, Dave Trokey, Barry Thompson and Mike Viessman.

Authors at South High

Students in the accelerated freshman literature class of Mrs. Sandra Hughes at Granite City High School South have completed a series of writing projects which they worked on during the entire semester. These included original short stories, poetry and children's stories.

The students illustrated and bound by hand the children's stories they had written. They sent these to the Frohardt, Marshall, Niedringhaus and Logan schools to be read and evaluated by third and fourth graders.

The elementary readers then provided comments for the high school authors. Writing projects in the freshman class were the culmination of a semester spent reading various kinds of literature by representative American and English authors, ranging from Shakespeare to Arthur Miller, and from Twain to E. E. Cummings.

Federal drunk driver proposal draws support

Governor James R. Thompson has asked members of the Illinois Congressional delegation to support legislation that would encourage states to form programs aimed at reducing drunk driving.

"Illinois is dedicated to improving safety and reducing the incidence of drunk driving," the governor said. "I ask you to pledge your commitment toward working for this important legislation."

Thompson said House Resolution 6170, sponsored by Cong. Michael D. Barnes of Maryland and Cong. James J. Howard of New Jersey, calls for the federal government to assist states in forming statewide, community-based alcohol traffic safety programs to deter drunk driving and speed the judicial process. "Written to complement efforts already under way in the states," he said, "this legislation would provide incentive grants to states for conducting alcohol safety programs."

Illinois, Thompson said, has waged an "aggressive" campaign to take unsafe drivers off streets and roads, including a new law that toughens penalties for drunk drivers.

Raising the legal drinking age to 21 has reduced the number of alcohol-related accidents on Illinois roads, he asserted. Drunk driving deaths and injuries are increasing in the nation, with more than 25,000 people killed by drunk drivers and 450,000 Americans hurt seriously each year.

The federal measure Thompson is backing is part of a package of legislation contained in the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982.

Aldermen to tour sewage plants in other cities

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Alderman Warren Decatur, chairman of the Wastewater Treatment Plant committee, said Tuesday he will tour the waste disposal plants of other communities in order to compare them with Granite City's controversial system.

Decatur made his remarks at the second round of the council budget talks, when both the city's environmental compliance units, the Wastewater Treatment Plant and the Air Pollution Division, were among the objects of aldermen searching for ways to cut back the city's $11.2 million budget and projected $349,000 deficit.

The alderman announced his plans after describing the results of a recent trip he and plant Superintendent Terrence McMillan made to the regional Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) in Collinsville.

Decatur said during his two-hour discussion with the regional water pollution manager and ensuing talks about a possible hike in residential and commercial fees here he was questioned about the extent of the plant's involvement in all aspects of the city's sewage system.

The plant here is unique by allowing the street department to maintain the sewers, according to Decatur. The street department currently repairs and inspects sewer lift stations and sewer lines running under city streets.

"At least four and sometimes six street department employees are doing sewage work," Decatur said.

The alderman said the issue had at one time become such a source of concern to street department employees when he was serving as chairman of the negotiations committee, that employees had inserted a clause in their contract about the situation.

According to Decatur, the still applicable clause promises if sewer line duties are taken from the street department employees, they will either not be laid off or be transferred to the department given the work.

During his tour to several communities including Belleville, Alton and Saugei, Decatur said he will find out the number of employees at each plant, what type of services the employees perform and if they do the type of tasks the Granite City Street Department does now.

Other members of the negotiations committee and Everett Morien to accompany Decatur in his investigations as their schedules permit.

He estimates the study will be turned over to the council in about two weeks.

Decatur said he was willing to go to those lengths to see how productivity at this plant measures up to other systems. He reaffirmed his opinion that the plant has been overstaffed for several years.

Last year, Decatur brought in an outside sewer system manager for a brief tour of the plant. The consultant subsequently appeared before the council and stated the plant could be run with a smaller staff, citing an update EPA staffing manual for support.

The alderman said he and McMillan took the trip to the Collinsville IEPA office to discover what maintenance and repairs the IEPA will require as the result of its grant close out project in August.

Tuesday, McMillan cited needed repair projects at the plant as a reason to keep the staff at its current level. The superintendent said the time for reducing the staff may be in the future after the plant has caught up with its maintenance projects and some employees have retired.

Decatur said he has sought an advanced look at the report in order to estimate its impact on this year's Wastewater Treatment Plant budget. City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic has budgeted $500,000 for plant maintenance.

Decatur estimates IEPA mandated repairs will total about $600,000, after he and McMillan met with Robert Schleiger, IEPA regional plant manager. Not all repairs will have to be made in the first year, Decatur said.

"The day of reckoning has not yet come," according to Superintendent McMillan, who said far as the IEPA is concerned the plant — built with 75 percent federal funding — is still under construction until the grant close out is completed.

McMillan said lawyers and accountants from Springfield will evaluate the sewage rates, and corrections yet to be made at the plant.

The city comptroller's rate review study calling for the $9 per quarter increase assumes the city will collect $111,000 from the IEPA for the construction of the plant, while McMillan doubts the money will be paid if the plant falls IEPA scrutiny.

"We have a big white elephant that's working at one-third capacity," said Decatur, referring to 33 of the plant that averages 7 million gallons daily use. capacity has been based on the city's now closed Union Starch plant.

Eagles to mark 77th anniversary

The Granite City Aerie 1128, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will observe the 77th anniversary of the aerie this month with various activities.

John Daley, the current president.

Among the plans for this month is a three day fund raising campaign, a large scale membership drive and a father's day dinner.

The organization meets each Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the Eagles Home, 2558 Madison Ave., the president noted. Those interested in learning more about the Fraternal Order of Eagles is invited to call between 3 p.m. and midnight on weekdays or from noon to midnight each Saturday and Sunday, Daley added.

Daley explained that George Mathenia will advise the new chairman of the procedures in conducting the fund raising campaign. He also said that Mathenia inaugurated this program more than a decade ago, and has raised several thousand dollars for the handicapped children and heart research in this area.

John Aubuchon is serving as chairman of the Jimmy Durante Crippled Children's Fund, and Charlie Chronister is chairman of the Max Baer Heart Fund.

The chairman said, "Not one penny of the money contributed to the funds is used for expenses of any kind. A full 100 percent goes directly into the establishment of the funds."

Children and older people in need. All money collected will go to the charities listed and will be donated for the children and people of this city."

Other organizations that receive assistance from the Eagles include the Cancer Fund, Meals on Wheels, senior citizen programs, Boy Scouts of America for extra supplies for the handicapped scouts and camperships.

Granite City School District 9 has been given several one thousand dollar grants in the past years for the purchase of extra supplemental supplies for the multiple and educable handicapped children, Daley announced.

The next project, a barbecue will start on Saturday, June 17, continue for two weeks and will conclude on June 24. Rich Wilbur will head the event which offers barbecue for sale to the public as well as members.

Proceeds from this will be given to the Cancer Fund.

In recognition of the charity drive by the Eagles of Aerie 1128, Mayor Paul Schuler today issued a proclamation. It reads in part: Millions of American children are stricken by crippling diseases and heart ailments; and Eagles Aerie 1128 is declaring a three day collection period on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 3, 4, and 5, to give as a donation to the Jimmy Durante Crippled Children's and Max Baer Heart Funds; and each coin collected by Eagles Aerie will mean help for small children.

The organization has a membership of one million, and their motto is: People Helping People. The Eagles raised over two million dollars for humanitarian purposes last year, and have raised more than five million dollars, to date, for the Max Baer Heart Fund, for heart research. They have contributed more than six and one half million dollars to the

Dr. Morris honored posthumously

Governor James R. Thompson presided over the 1982 convocation and investiture of the Laureates of the Lincoln Academy last week, honoring four Illinoisans for their contributions to the betterment of mankind, including the late Dr. DeWitt W. Morris, former president of Southern Illinois University.

"As president of the Lincoln Academy, it is my pleasure to bestow this honor on these outstanding Illinoisans," the governor said. "They have displayed the attributes of Abraham Lincoln during their lives — they have given of themselves toward a better society and lives for our citizens."

The Krannert Center for the Performing Arts in Urbana was the site of the ceremony. The awards were followed by a dinner and ball with music by the Jimmy Dorsey Orchestra.

The four Illinoisans honored were:

Dr. Donald L. Bitzer, Illinois and the nation's foremost computer educator. Bitzer has made contributions in the electronic and computer fields. He is the inventor of the PLATO system, which is a self-teaching computer network based at the University of Illinois and distributed by

Hearings request permits for mobile home placements

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will conduct four on-site public hearings in Nameoki Township Tuesday, June 8, on requests for special use permits to place mobile homes.

Three of the requests are for property at 4123 Division St., where Fred Hartline Sr. and Mrs. Fred Hartline Jr. are requesting special use permits to place mobile homes for up to five years. It was noted the property is across the street from a mobile home park. Separate hearings Tuesday on each request are to begin at 9:10 and 9:30 a.m.

The final hearing Tuesday is to begin at 10:10 a.m. along Fourth Street in East Madison, where Marshall E. and Bette J. Carney, of Clarence Norman are requesting a special use permit to place a double-wide mobile home for up to five years.

After the public hearings, the board will reconvene in the county courthouse at Edwardsville to decide the recommendations they will make to the Madison County Board. The board then will act on those recommendations at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, June 16, at the regular board meeting in the county courthouse.

Additives in our food—how good are the gatekeepers?

(This is the sixth in a series of 15 articles exploring "Food and People." In this article, Jerre E. Goyan, dean of the School of Pharmacy, University of California, San Francisco, analyzes the effectiveness of the measures designed to protect us from harmful food additives. Copyright 1982 by the Regents of the University of California.)

By JERRE E. GOYAN

Food additives date back at least to the ancient Egyptians and Hebrews, who used salt to enhance the flavor and preserve the freshness of their food. Yet in the last 20 years or so, they have become the subject of bitter controversy.

Food additives have been accused of leading to a range of evils from behavioral problems to cancer, and the increasing popularity of "organic" and "natural" foods attests to our growing concern.

On the other hand, some additives are essential to our modern food system, which requires preservation of food during transportation and storage. Other additives improve taste and appearance and make possible a variety of convenience foods.

At the center of the controversy are the Food and Drug Administration (FDA)—the government gatekeeper responsible for protecting us from harmful substances—and the 1958 food additive amendments to the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

This legislation defined food additives as substances whose intended use may reasonably be expected to result in their becoming a component of the final product.

The definition has two less exceptions: those substances "Generally Recognized as Safe" (GRAS), and those that had received prior sanction by the FDA or the Department of Agriculture.

These categories were established so that hundreds of additives already commonly found in the food supply in 1958—including those most frequently used, sugar and salt—would not require new approval.

An additional section of the 1958 legislation has been responsible for much of the subsequent controversy surrounding food additives.

Known as the Delaney Clause, after the congressman, who introduced it, it specifies that no food additive be allowed which has been demonstrated "to induce cancer in man or animal."

FALSE ASSUMPTIONS. The 1958 legislation assumed that food additives which had been used were safe and that probably only a few substances could cause cancer in humans.

Subsequent laboratory experiments suggested otherwise: some common substances proved to be carcinogenic—that is, cancer-causing—when given in massive doses.

In 1969, questions were raised about the possible carcinogenicity of one of the 514 substances originally on the GRAS list: cyclamate, an artificial sweetener.

Cyclamate was therefore removed from the list and banned from use in foods.

President Nixon then ordered a re-evaluation of the safety of all GRAS list substances.

That study, recently completed, raised concerns about 24 of the additives on the list, including the possibility that excessive intake of caffeine causes birth defects—and that the amount of salt in our food was decreased because of its possible contribution to high blood pressure.

In another case, in 1978, sodium nitrite, a prior sanctioned substance used to prevent botulism in meats, was reported to induce cancer in laboratory animals.

The FDA was thus faced with a law that required the removal of nitrite from foods although the substance serves a public health purpose.

Re-evaluation of the study showed that nitrite itself is probably not a carcinogen, although nitrosamines formed from nitrites in the presence of protein are.

Thus, it has been possible to keep nitrite in the food supply while attempting to identify other preservatives to replace it.

These examples, along with the recent brouhaha over the proposed removal of saccharin from the market, made it clear that the assumptions of 1958 were flawed.

Prior use is no guarantee of safety, and unfortunately many chemicals are—at least weakly—carcinogenic.

"ACCIDENTAL" ADDITIVES. In addition to regulating deliberate additives, the FDA also attempts to protect us against substances accidentally added to or present in the food supply.

For example, aflatoxin, which is produced by a fungus growing on many grains, is a common contaminant known to cause cancer in laboratory animals.

The FDA has established a tolerance limit for aflatoxin in grains that can be marketed.

The reasoning is that such accidental contaminants should be allowed, if present, in small amounts that do not present an appreciable health risk. Otherwise large quantities of nutritious food might have to be destroyed.

Pesticides also appear accidentally in final food products.

The food crops on which specific pesticides may be used and the amount that will be tolerated in the final product are tightly regulated.

A third example of accidental food additives are drugs used in animal feed that appear in the final food product. Again, the amounts of allowed are regulated to keep them well within safe limits.

PROBLEMS OF REGULATION. Part of the problem in any proposed regulatory action regarding food additives involves the difficulty of demonstrating cause-and-effect relationships where the effect may not occur until years after the alleged cause.

There is little, if any, controversy about regulations relative to low-acid canned foods, since almost everyone has been sick shortly after eating some "tainted" food.

However, in dealing with a substance that is a weak carcinogen, such as saccharin, there is only a small chance that any given individual will be affected.

Furthermore, it may be many years before the effect (cancer) occurs, and it will not be possible to link definitely any one case of cancer to the additive, only an increase in rate.

Many people, therefore, believe that they should have "freedom of choice" regarding whether or not they should ingest a potential carcinogen.

The difficulty is that few Americans are in a position to make reasoned judgments based on probabilistic arguments.

It has been suggested that the Delaney Clause not be removed but be modified so that a substance which, according to tests, would not increase the risk of cancer to any one individual by more than one in a million over his or her lifetime be allowed to remain in the food supply.

Such a provision would result in some substances that would have to be removed under the present Delaney Clause remaining on the market, but it would be too strict to allow approval of saccharin.

APPROVING NEW ADDITIVES. There is also the problem of approving new additives. In order to obtain such approval, the sponsor must determine that the substance works for the purpose intended and that the concentration in the final food product can be measured.

The substance must be tested in at least two species of animals in large doses over an extended period of time to determine whether it can cause birth defects, cancer, or other adverse effects.

The sponsor submits the test results to the FDA, which establishes regulations for safe use. The basic rule is to establish a hundred-fold safety margin.

Thus the manufacturer may incorporate only one percent of the maximum amount found not to produce any harmful effect in animals (except in the case of carcinogenesis, in which the current Delaney Clause would not allow its use at all).

This premarket approval system has been an effective way of assuring that new food additives do not cause illness.

Since the 1958 legislation, it has been possible to identify problems in previously used food additives and to prevent the introduction of potentially harmful new ones.

It is reassuring that of the 2,500-plus food additives presently used, only a few have been seriously questioned.

Nevertheless, many people maintain that no "foreign" chemical should be added to the food supply, ignoring that natural foods also contain toxic substances and are chemicals.

Others, however, maintain that the benefits in terms of preserving freshness, making food more appealing, and improving processing outweigh any small "potential" toxicity.

The FDA appears to have steered a reasonable course between these contending forces to the benefit of the American public.

Narcotics 'big business' in Illinois, Fahner tells group

By PAIGE ST. JOHN
Illegal drug traffic in Illinois has become too big of a problem for any one agency to handle.

That was the message Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahner gave at a meeting of more than 70 Madison County residents last week at the Edwardsville Junior High School.

"Narcotics is big business in Illinois, and the profits are enormous," Fahner told the gathering. On a national level, narcotic sales are estimated to reach $100 billion this year, he said.

"That figure is more than the combined sales of General Motors, U.S. Steel and IBM. It's much more than this country pays for foreign oil in a single year," he stated.

In much of the meeting, speakers were drumming up support for legislation asking the creation of statewide grand juries with the authority to deal with drug traffic, toxic waste dumping and fraud on a multi-county level.

"The (drug) problem has grown too wide," Fahner said. "Criminals don't respect county lines, so why should law enforcement?" Fahner's statewide grand jury act would give circuit judges the authority to create grand juries to hear certain crimes investigators believe to be occurring in two or three counties. As it stands now, grand juries can only function in one county or judicial circuit.

Fahner managed to get two other drug enforcement-related bills through the House of Representatives last week with overwhelming bipartisan support (a look-alike drug bill and a drug profits seizure measure).

His grand jury legislation has received political opposition, however, and had to be pulled at the last minute Friday by its sponsor, Rep. Art Telser, before it came to a vote.

"We didn't have the votes we needed to pass it," Fahner said at the Parents Against Drugs meeting. Because the deadline for House bills has already passed, Fahner said the grand jury bill will be amended onto a Senate bill for reintroduction into the legislature.

Uplate opposition to the bill, Fahner charged, is coming from purely political reasons. Chicago Democrats are shooting it down, he said, because this is an election year and he is a Republican.

"My message to those voting against it," Fahner said at the public forum, "is this bill is truly too important for politics. We need to get it passed."

Before giving the floor over to Madison County State Attorney Don Weber, Fahner praised the recently adjourned Madison County grand jury for its efforts to fight the drug problem in area schools. "We can make a difference," he said, "working together."

Weber gave his support to Fahner's bill, welcoming the addition of a new level on which to fight narcotics traffic. "You can't have too many prosecutors fighting drug traffic in Illinois," he said. "The problem is that large."

Parents need to recognize the scope of the drug problem in Illinois, and see the effect it has on their children, Weber said. "Drugs are not just illegal," he said. "They're wrong."

Weber read to a receptive audience part of a letter he had received from a man he convicted several years ago for murdering an elderly woman with a baseball bat in Granite City. At the time of the crime, the man was believed to be under the influence of alcohol and several other drugs.

"I am a living example of what drugs can do to you," Steven Struberg of Granite City wrote Weber. "I've had to learn this after several hard years in prison. Unfortunately for me, it is too late."

If something is not done soon about the drug problem in Illinois, it will quickly be to late to stem it, the head of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southern Illinois, Jim Nichols, told the audience of parents, politicians, law enforcement officials and media.

"I thought that (the MEGSI) bust of the Company in Alton several years ago was the light at the end of the tunnel; that we were finally making headway against the drug problem," Nichols said. "That's not the case now. If anything it has gotten worse."

Narcotics trafficking was the sleeping giant," he said. "It lay dormant for a few years, and now it's alive again."

If not curtailed, the drug problem "will eventually cause the crumble of this nation," Nichols warned. MEGSI and local law enforcement officials can no longer effectively battle the prospering drug trade alone, he said.

"We're getting whipped. We're getting beaten. Two years ago, I used to tell audiences we were the little Dutch boy with our finger in the dike. Tonight I'm telling you the dike has broken and we're drowning."

A question and answer period after the presentation was highlighted by a member of the audience chiding Fahner for not supporting an anti-drugs magazine, War on Drugs.

Fahner said he did not support the organization publishing the magazine, because it solicits funds in the Chicago area to fight drugs and instead uses the money to support the New National Democratic Labor Party in New York. The group does not qualify as a charitable organization, he said.

$75 MILLION POWER COMPANY BOND ISSUE
Illinois Power Company has announced the filing of a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission in connection with a proposed offering of up to $75,000,000 of first mortgage bonds.

Net proceeds will be used to repay the outstanding short-term borrowings at the time of issuance of the bonds, with the remainder applied to new construction. ## Study discusses Marijuana effects

By SUE PROF.

F. HENRY FIRSCHING
A report has been prepared by the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences that attempts to clarify the marijuana problem. Twenty-two scientists spent $450,000 making this study. They examined all the information published on the subject since 1975 and also reviewed the earlier work.

The information was collected into distinct categories and definitive statements were made about what is known and not known. The patterns of use was one of these categories. In the last 10 years, the number of users in the United States has approximately doubled for all the age groups between 12 and 24 years of age. More than 30 million Americans have used marijuana at least once. That is about one-quarter of the population.

The high school senior use peaked in 1978, when about 11 percent of the seniors were users. During 1981, it fell to about seven percent. Apparently this decline is due to a recognition of the hazards associated with marijuana use.

The most important influence on young people becoming a user of marijuana was seeing members of their own age using it. For school students, it is use during school sessions. It is disturbing because marijuana affects behavior, short-term memory, communication skills, and learning ability. Marijuana users perform more poorly in school than other students.

The heart and lungs was another category studied. Smoking marijuana definitely causes changes in the heart and in the blood circulation. These changes are characteristic of stress for an individual. For healthy individuals, there is no firm evidence that it causes any troubles, but for persons who have a health problem, marijuana use may increase their risks.

The prolonged use of marijuana brings about respiratory problems: pharyngitis, sinusitis, bronchitis, and asthma. Problems with these diseases are more difficult for marijuana users. There is also the potential for producing cancer of the lung, because marijuana has about 50 percent more cancer-causing agents than cigarettes. Furthermore, the combination of cigarette smoke and marijuana smoke is more harmful than the effects of either alone.

At the present time, there is no positive information showing that lung cancer is due to marijuana.

There is one additional disturbing feature of marijuana use. In many countries where marijuana is grown, the marijuana crops are sprayed, by police, with paraquat, a herbicide. The sprayed marijuana is immediately harvested, so the crop will not spoil. About one-fourth of all the marijuana sold is contaminated in this way. Smoking marijuana that contains paraquat can cause severe lung damage, particularly pulmonary fibrosis.

Reproduction and other biological systems were also studied. Marijuana suppresses the production of male hormones, inhibits sperm production, and decreases the weight of the prostate and the testes. However, there are no indications of long-term effects on male fertility.

In test animals, marijuana blocks ovulation and also produces birth defects. The active ingredient in marijuana, tetrahydrocannabinol, crosses the placental barrier in humans and could cause harm to the fetus. It is also secreted in mother's milk and could be toxic to infants.

Apparently there are no chromosome breaks due to marijuana use. Marijuana does suppress the immune system and also interferes with the regulation of body temperature. Inhibiting sweating is one aspect of this effect.

Another important category studied was the nervous system and behavior. Marijuana produces acute effects on the brain. It impairs motor coordination and tracking ability. It also affects sensory and perceptual functions that are important for safe driving and the operation of machinery. Marijuana effects ability much like ethyl alcohol. If both are used, the effects are additive. The impairment in function produced by marijuana lasts for four to eight hours after the feeling of intoxication is over. This is much longer than with alcohol.

The long-term effects on regular users are apathy, loss of ambition, loss of effectiveness, diminished ability to carry out long-term plans, difficulty concentrating, and a decline in work performance.

The overall conclusion of this study was that marijuana use justifies some serious national concern. It also suggests that much more research be done on this very important drug.

portion of Broadway from Illinois Route 3 under the tracks of the Norfolk and Western, Illinois Central Gulf and Central Railroads, the agreement states.

Advanced provisions must be made, however, to enable traffic to be detoured over Klein Avenue and Bissell Street prior to the major repair project getting underway, probably in mid-August, when the subway will be closed for roughly a three-month period.

The resolution adopted by the City of Madison Council notes the City of Madison has agreed to resurface the through traffic lanes of Bissell Street with three inches of bituminous concrete, tapering over the existing parking lanes to a half-inch of the curb line, for two blocks on Bissell, between Weaver and W. Second streets, plus repaving the intersection of Klein and Bissell.

Resurfacing of the roadway must be completed by Aug. 1 to allow work on the Broadway underpass to commence, the agreement states.

The state consented to reimburse Madison 100 percent of the cost of materials used in the resurfacing of Bissell Street, estimated at $5,000, upon receipt of an itemized bill. The question is in impaired condition, preventing it as a major detour route, it was learned.

The cities of Madison and Venice also agreed to restrict parking along the south side of Bissell Street and along the west side of Klein Avenue in the area adjacent to the intersection.

Likewise stipulated was the maintenance of Bissell and Klein by the respective cities during use of the thoroughfares as a state detour.

The section of streets Tom Scaturro reported that Venice will be caused by its increased use.

Fourth Ward Alderman John Ervin, who said the type of materials to be used in the resurfacing project, and what parking arrangements can be made, was agreed to repair the surface or base of Klein Avenue, such as potholes, rutting and other failures, caused by its increased use.

Superintendent of Streets Tom Scaturro reported that Venice will be might occur next year.

Midsky included in the record of the meeting an explanation of his vote on the issue. He said David Partney dissented in a 5-2 vote which granted 94 percent 1982-83 raises to executive secretaries, school crossing guards, campus monitors, teaching assistants and the accounting supervisor.

No raises were given to substitute employees. It was noted that to form a committee, President George Moore, Treasurer Dewey Melton and Partney—to study and suggest means of evaluating and compensating school administrators.

Midsky said he believes the teaching assistants and others granted raises Tuesday night should receive them, since such raises previously were given to other employees.

He said his negative vote was consistent with his earlier opposition to 94 percent administrator raises, and that he would have preferred to see all considered at the same time rather than at different board meetings. The administrators had been raised in a 4-2 vote last month, with Midsky and Partney opposed.

Supt. Davis said after this week's meeting that the advance retirement plans approved for various personnel will enable some future staff reductions to be made without honorably dismissing so many young faculty members.

The pattern in recent years, con-for observation. Estimated cost of this portion of the work, however, was listed at $23,000.

Commenting about the proposed riverfront improvements, Mayor Echols stated, "None of the money for this project has come down so far from Springfield and we don't know if we'll get it. But it seems likely we will."

Complaints about neglected property in the 1000 block of Calhoun Street, 1200 block of Klein, 1000 block of Logan Avenue, 500 block of Salvear Avenue and 1300 block of Robin Street, among other locales, came in for lengthy discussion.

Second Ward Alderman George Mangiarino stated, "I've had several complaints about property in the 1200 block of Klein and on Robin Street. 'The weeds are very high, it's really bad. Rubbish and everything is just laying around. I'd like to see some action taken on these places.'"

City Attorney Lawrence Hartman explained what procedures should be followed, stating, "The owner of such property should be contacted and, after a certain time, if no action is taken the city can file a criminal complaint. Every time that happens, another complaint can be filed against the person."

Margaret Lee addressed the council, stating "Some of us here do live on Klein and we have talked and been concerned about our street for the past five months."

"About 90 percent are property owners and at least 70 percent of us are trying to improve our places ourselves. We've had many break-ins recently and we have a very dangerous situation at 12XX Klein Street."

Feds transfer land reclamation to state

Governor James R. Thompson said last week that Secretary of the Interior James G. Watt has approved transferring responsibility for the regulation of land reclamation to the State of Illinois.

Top officials of the Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals were in Washington, D.C. to meet with Watt concerning the program. Watt's approval of the program gives Illinois exclusive jurisdiction over the regulation of the reclamation of lands disturbed by coal mining in Illinois.

"This is an example of a program that the State can better handle than any federal bureaucracy," the Governor said. "We are aware of the particular problems of reclamation because of Illinois' topography, mining history and the need to preserve our state's farm land. Because of that, we can address these problems better than anyone else."

The approval of the program will become effective on June 1. Under the program, the federal government would pay for 80 percent of the cost of operating the program by the state in the first year. The Mines and Minerals Department budget for the coming fiscal year allocates $236,000 as the State's share.

OVERNIGHT MAIL?

"It's faster than the mail," Barry Loman, vice-president of Granite City Trust & Savings Bank, could well have said as he received notification that a balloon released during a bank promotion had traveled 500 miles, possibly in one day.

Loman received a letter from Dale Krauss of Bay City, Mich., last week which said that Krauss had found one of the bank's balloons in a farm field May 15, one day after such balloons were given out at the bank's booth during the opening day of Home Show 1982.

If the balloon, indeed, was given out on the opening day of the home show, it would have had to average the "breakneck speed" of nearly 21 miles an hour to reach Bay City, Mich., 24 hours later. Perhaps the bank has discovered a new form of air mail.

Lake 6:19 . . . "And the whole multitude sought to touch him; for there went virtue out of him, and he healed them all."

You can expect Jesus to do good things for you. He desires to meet our every need. In this instance, He was healing sickness and afflictions and the multitude sought to touch Him. And He healed them all.

We know it is His will to heal. Isaiah 53:5 and 1 Peter 2:24 tell us so. We know He did heal by reading the gospel of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. We know He healed multitudes. And He healed them.

Now have faith for your healing. See yourself as part of a multitude. Seek to touch Him by reading your Bible and by praying. It is His desire to touch you also. Let Him do it. Today.

Special agencies' minibuses recommended to board

The Madison County Transit District has received a recommendation from its Paratransit Funding Assistance Program to approve the purchase of a minibus for the Granite City Township and vans for Granite City Mental Health Services, Granite City Specialized Services, Inc., and the city of Madison.

The recommendations were sent last week by Jim Richards to the Madison County Transit Board, which includes Board Member Paul Schuler, mayor of Granite City. The recommendations are intended to cover the capital improvements and operating requests of 14 district applicants.

The requests were reviewed by both Richards and Suzanne Blackhurst, transit board member, who attempted to divide $225,000 among the applicants.

"I have approached this program as an opportunity to improve paratransit service within the transit district. I have looked at service areas, target populations, budgets, project descriptions," Richards said.

The capital improvements dollar amounts represent estimates, hopefully on the high side, according to Richards. "Purchase of vehicles and equipment should either be by bid or, at least, careful shopping by the staff and board."

Applicants, especially those requesting operating funds, have been warned that continued funding is not guaranteed and that alternate sources should be sought.

Among recommendations for the seven-month funding period are $40,000 for one minibus for the Granite City Township Board; $15,000 for a van for Mental Health Services; and $18,000 for a van and $14,100 operating capital for Granite City Specialized Services, Inc.

Madison's request for $12,140 for operations and $17,500 for a van was cut to $15,000 for one van and $2,952 for operations.

The Nameoki Township Senior Citizens' request for $21,402 in operating expenses was reduced to $9,838 for operations and $1,000 for capital improvements.

Governor asks for broad review of tax burden

Governor James R. Thompson told members of the Tax Reform Commission at its first meeting last week that he wants the commission to recommend a tax system that will create the "lowest, most equitable tax burden" for Illinois citizens, while providing essential government revenues.

"My charge to you is simple: I want you to recommend a mix of taxes — a tax system — which creates the lowest, most equitable tax burden; one that is consistent with the need to provide revenues for essential state and local government services, and for those services only," the governor said.

Thompson noted that the tax system has not been particularly analyzed in its entirety in 13 years.

Thompson named the 24-member panel last month and has asked that it report back to him in December with its recommendations.

The group is chaired by Arthur J. Fink, executive vice-president of James Fink and Associates, a balanced representation of the major political parties, geography and employment.

He said that Illinois is not a high taxing state — the overall burden from state and local taxes relative to personal income is below the average. In fact, that tax burden declined from 1975 to 1980, he said.

But, the governor emphasized that the study must look beyond tax rates and also study the types of taxes Illinois residents face.

Among the questions the panel may wish to answer in the report, the governor said, include those that ask:

—Should income taxes be raised and property taxes be lowered?

—Should our sales tax base be broadened and the rate lowered?

—Should utility taxes or excise taxes be changed?

—Should existing deductions, credits or exemptions be altered to broaden existing tax bases?

He identified four criteria that he feels should be used in devising an overall tax system that allows for an adequate and elastic revenue base. Those criteria include the simplicity of the tax; the neutrality of a tax burden so that it does not affect the making of economic decisions; an adequate yield of revenue that grows as the economy does, and equity based on the ability to pay.

Thompson stressed again that he does not favor a graduated income tax, nor does he favor wholesale tax increases to avoid making difficult decisions about which state services the people want or need.

The governor also reiterated his stand against any general tax increases this year. "Only in the context of tax reform should we consider altering the state and local tax burdens on our citizens," he said.

Skin and eye cautions for sunbathers

GERALDINE L. BOWER, Ph.D., U.o.I.

Extension Adviser
Claims made about tanning booths or tans often tempt students and others returning from an annual pilgrimage to Florida or other sun spots. And who, with a headstart, wouldn't want to keep a coppery tan going until summer? Before partaking of the hot-house version, however, there are some definite side effects that dictate caution.

According to Larry O'Reilly, University of Illinois Professor of Health Education, tanning booth lights bombard the body with two types of ultraviolet radiation. While one type increases the risk of skin cancer and the other may cause pre-mature aging, both can result in eye damage.

Higher doses of the type that causes skin cancer (ultraviolet-B) are emitted by the sun than by the artificial light used in the tanning booth. This doesn't mean, however, that you're not exposing yourself to cancer risk when visiting a tanning booth.

The other type of rays, ultraviolet-A may not cause cancer, but may age the skin according to Marie Eckvall, of the Chicago District Food & Drug Administration.

Those seeking a golden glow from tanning studios are exposing their bodies to much higher levels of ultraviolet-A or UV-A rays than they would be if they were lying in the sun. Some 95 percent of the rays emitted by newer model sun lamps are UV-A rays that go deep into the skin and attack the fiber that normally keeps the skin resilient. The result of too much UV-A exposure appears to be sagging skin.

Another problem that may be aggravated by the strong ultraviolet-A rays in a tanning booth or intense outdoor exposure is chemical (drug) sensitivity which can result in severe burns or intense overall itching.

Examples of drugs known to react to such rays are some used for acne treatment, some antibiotics (including tetracycline), certain anticonvulsants and antidepressants, several antidiabetic drugs or glucose-lowering agents some antihistamines, some estrogens and progestones, a number of tranquilizers, some diuretics and anti-hypertensives or blood pressure-lowering medications and some ingredients used in cosmetics, perfumes and toilet articles.

If you are currently taking medications that fall into any of the categories listed above, you should check with your physician or pharmacist to determine if you would be taking a phototoxic or photoallergic reaction by either visiting a tanning studio or subjecting yourself to intense outdoor exposure.

And regardless of claims made that goggles are not needed for artificial sunning treatments Eckvall of the Food & Drug Administration says that such eye protection from either type of ultraviolet ray is needed to (1) prevent eye burn; and other corneal irritations; and (2) to eliminate increase risk of cataracts.

Local girl wins IP essay contest

Michelle Ann Kondrich of Mitchell School is a winner in a Power Plant Tour Essay Contest sponsored by Illinois Power Company.

Michelle will receive two shares of Illinois Power Company stock. She is among eight in Illinois Power Company territory whose essays were chosen best from about 1,120 submitted from more than 4,000 students who made 65 tours of Illinois Power power plants during the school year of 1981-82.

The essay judged best from each class qualifies its author for a prize of a Webster's dictionary. At year's end these winning essays are grouped by IP service areas and the best essay written then is selected for the grand prize of two shares of IP stock, which now has a current market value of about $21. Michelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kondrich, 7771 Carolyn Boulevard, Mitchell.

The tour was arranged by Arthur E. Menendez, principal of Mitchell School, for class instructors Leroy Fudye and Ted Brown.

Pupils' print shop called a success

Progress of Granite City students' printing shop was praised at Tuesday night's Board of Education meeting by Thomas C. Holloway, director of vocational and career education, and Vasil Eftimoff, administrative assistant for pupil personnel services.

In a joint report, they said, "As you are aware, in 1980 the Vocational Education Department and Special Education Department, with the approval of the board, established a print shop at High School South."

"This week we will see our first program completers graduating and leaving our school district with skills that will allow them to gain entry-level employment in the printing industry."

"In the first year of operation, all standardized tests were printed, along with a minimal amount of other district-level employment in the printing industry."

"In March of the first full year of operation, the instructor of the program resigned and returned to industry. At that time, Gary Morgan, industrial education instructor at South, took over the responsibilities of the print shop for the remainder of the school year and has remained in that capacity to date."

"We are now completing the second year of operation."

Discussing the 1981-82 school year, Morgan said, "We ordered 120 items with quantities ranging from one item to 75,000. We placed 29 separate orders totaling $8,500."

"Trying to keep our billing and our cost of supplies as close as possible, we billed $8,500 for a difference of $13,500."

"To arrive at what it would have cost the district to have the printing done at a professional print shop, we contacted six such shops in the area and gained price estimates. We took the lowest of those prices and totaled them. We arrived at a total billing of approximately $35,500."

"We had 185 days of school and, of those, we had about 170 days of printing, with 3.5 hours of vocational printing per day for a total of 595 printing hours. Calculating with those hours, we delivered over $20 worth of printing each hour."

"While these figures are impressive, they are most rewarding when it is considered that half of the printers are classified as special education students. "Because these students, along with the other students who were involved with this program, were aware of the monies that they helped save, they gained a pride of workmanship that should accompany them after their years in our school district," Morgan concluded.

In addition to the savings outlined, the district receives vocational and special education reimbursements for the print shop program.

"After two years of operation, we feel we can report the program is successful and providing both an educational and financial service to our district," Holloway and Eftimoff said.

Argentina has more problems than just Britian

By GARRY N. MURPHY
SIUE English Prof.

The Argentine invasion of the Falkland Islands has touched off another, diminutive invasion right here in the U.S.

I refer to the "un-American" pronunciation of Argentine.

For two weeks following April 2, practically every newscaster I heard pronounced the word so that the last syllable rhymed with "fine" or "my darling Clementine." Some even corrected themselves in mid-sentence to make sure it came out the "right" way.

That is very odd, because all American dictionaries list the "fine" pronunciation as second to the one that rhymes with "obscene" or "latrine." The order of preference is reversed only when the word is spelled without the capital "C" and is used to mean—as it originally did in Latin—"slavery."

It would be interesting to know who led the troops in this sudden subversive takeover. Presumably it was one of the highly respected TV anchormen or -women, who was duped into adopting a Britishism. And then everyone else fell dutifully in line.

At any rate, the usurpation was short-lived. As of noon Saturday, April 17, everyone had quietly shifted over to the American pronunciation. It would be interesting to know who led the retreat—if that's the word for it. Moral: You don't have to sound like the British to side with them.

Donald Patrick named to Lions Foundation board

Donald D. Patrick, 3819 Pontoon Road, Pontoon Beach, has been named to the board of trustees of the Lions of Illinois Foundation, Oak Park, the charitable arm of the state's 33,000 Lions Club members in 678 clubs.

His one-year term of office will begin July 1. He becomes a member of the board by virtue of his election as a Lions district governor, one of 12 in the state. Twelve district governors serving one-year terms and 12 district trustees serving two-year terms represent their districts on the board and are elected by Lions in those districts.

As a board member, he will participate in administering various statewide programs benefitting the blind, visually impaired, deaf and hearing impaired. He also will be responsible for major duties in fund-raising, including spearheading Candy Day, Oct. 8, when Lions throughout the state will give away candy and accept donations to raise $1 million for humanitarian purposes.

Besides Candy Day, other sources of income include club and individual giving, bequests, memorials and other projects. The foundation qualifies for tax-deductible giving and is registered with the office of the Illinois Attorney General.

Patrick is executive director of the Greater St. Louis Council of Camp Fire Girls and Boys. He is a member of the Lions Club of Pontoon Beach and has served as its president.

As a member of the board of trustees, he will help administer many humanitarian service programs benefiting people throughout the state. The programs include Camp Lions, a summer camping program for blind, visually impaired, deaf and hearing impaired children between the ages of 8 and 16 years; the Lions Mobile Glaucoma (Eye) Screening Unit, which gives glaucoma and visual acuity screenings for adults; the Lions Mobile Hearing Unit, which screens for hearing impairments; the Lions Eye Donor Registry, which has obtained 8,000 eye donor pledges so far in the battle to alleviate a chronic shortage of eye tissue for corneal transplants and other medical needs; a program of Social Services and Referral to help individuals find information, help, and specialized equipment; a Used Eyeglasses Collection Program that annually provides 250,000 pairs of used eyeglasses to persons in poverty areas all over the world; a Used Hearing Aid Bank to help provide hearing aids for persons who cannot afford to purchase a new one, and publication of the Illinois Directory of Services for the Visually Impaired, a reference book with more than 450 entries.

All programs are offered by the Lions free to the public.

Patrick is a graduate of the University of Missouri in administration. He is a Vietnam veteran and the recipient of a Bronze Star. He is active in communitarian affairs in the Chamber of Commerce, School Board Advisory Council, United Way and Boy Scouts of America.

He was elected by the Lions of District 1-C, covering 11 counties in southwestern Illinois.

Fiber: just a new name for old-fashioned bulk

"Eat more fiber!" "....now with 20 percent more fiber!" "A higher fiber food."

Chances are you've seen at least one of the above in newspaper and magazine articles or on a variety of food packages within the last week. Admonitions to eat more fiber have become increasingly more common in the past few years.

Fiber is really a new name for a classic component of the diet. Back in the early 1900s, it was called bulk or roughage and was equally well-promoted as an important part of the diet.

In the years between then and now, bulk or fiber was largely forgotten as Americans moved toward eating more and more highly processed foods that lacked fiber.

Today, fiber is back and we now know some of the reasons why it is so important. If you've eaten it all along, you're one step ahead of the game. If not, now is a good time to begin including it again.

Fiber is found only in plants. It is made up of certain types of carbohydrates that cannot be broken down or digested very well.

Most of the fiber we eat simply passes through the body and is excreted as waste, it still plays an important role.

Fiber provides bulk in the diet and soaks up water in the large intestine so stools are soft more easily passed out of the body. Because of this, fiber in the diet can relieve the problems of constipation and diverticulosis. These problems are more common in older individuals, so a reasonable amount of fiber in the diet is especially important for the elderly.

Foods that provide fiber include fruits, vegetables and whole grains.

It's not necessary to take special fiber supplements unless your doctor recommends doing so. Four or more 1/2-cup servings of fruits and vegetables plus two servings of whole-grain breads or cereals will provide plenty of fiber.

If you don't like whole-grain baked foods, a serving of bran cereal every day is a good addition to the diet.

Some people have gone overboard in claiming a lack of fiber to be the cause of many diseases. However, there is no conclusive evidence that a lack of fiber can cause diabetes, heart disease or cancer.

Adding fiber to the diet will not cure these diseases, either. But it may help relieve constipation and help the elderly avoid a dangerous reliance on laxatives that develop all too often in later years.

Protect crop acreage bases, farmers advised

"Now that the sign-up period for 1982 farm programs has ended, the next step will be certification of crop acres," Delbert Essenspiess, Chairman of the Madison County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said.

This step is necessary to assure eligibility for program benefits and to protect 1983 crop acreage bases. Therefore, both program participants and nonparticipants need to report crop acres, he said.

Acreage bases for participating crops will not be reduced in 1983, according to Essenspiess. "This means that the 1983 acreage base for program crops will equal the 1982 crop acreage base." The 1983 acreage base for crops with zero planted acres reported will equal the 1982 crop acreage base. To protect their 1983 crop acreage bases, it is important for farmers, who are not participating in the 1982 acreage reduction programs to report their acres.

Madison County farmers have until June 10 to report fall seeded crops and until July 15 to certify spring seeded crops.

For more details on 1983 crop acreage bases and crop reporting contact the local ASCS office at Edwardsville telephone number is 624-7300.

Organ Pedalers meet

Helen Testerman, the grand pedaler, opened the May meeting of the A.O.A.U. Organ Pedalers Organ Club, followed by minutes and treasurer report read by Carolyn Belling, great quarternote. Mrs. Testerman read a letter from Joe Sonniag, Central Region chairman of the A.O.A.U., concerning the Las Vegas extravaganza. He also mentioned that they will have a mini-extravaganza in Chicago to be held in September. The club discussed the possibility of attending the fall session.

Burel Schmisser, sponsor-advisor, showed pictures from the National School of Music's 29th anniversary.

Those in attendance discussed securing new members inviting inactive members to attend meetings. It was decided to have a barbecue on Sunday, June 13, at 1 p.m., instead of the regular meeting night. The event will be held at the home of Fern and Harvey House, 4716 Nameoki Road. Each family should bring their own picnic lunch and supplies. The club will provide pork steaks for everyone, but it will be necessary for anyone planning to attend to call 797-4500.

Schmisser gave a talk on "organ beginnings" - how the organ came about, and showed the club the 3-5 organ, a Hammond organ about 25 years old, with the tone wheel generator. He then demonstrated voicing on the classic - using chords or single tones.

Home-made cookies and punch by Fern House were served while members experimented on the organ. Attending were, Irv Slate Sr., Henry Coleman, Fern and Harvey House, Liz Novacich, Alpha Bauer, Carolyn Belling, Betty Applegate, and Dorothy Alsop.

Concert Saturday at Hope Lutheran

Dr. Harry Gieselman who was for 10 years head of the Music Department and served as professor for 25 years at Concordia College, Seward, Neb., is the producer and director of the Celebrate Singers who will be in concert at Hope Lutheran Church on Saturday, June 5, at 7 p.m.

Admission to the concert will be free, but a freewill offering will be taken, according to the Rev. David Fielding, pastor.

The invitation of the Department of Evangelism and Parish Education of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod first organized the singers to present a christian witness musical entitled "Celebrate the Spirit."

In response to a question of a classic musician's involvement in basically a contemporary idiom, Dr. Gieselman commented, "Music is not static; we must not allow ourselves to think that God's gift of music to the church for worship stopped with Bach or that God pleasing tempos and instruments are limited to those traditional to the church."

He added, "The guitar of the Celebrate Singers is certainly closer to the harp on which King David played his Psalms than we all love so dearly."

In 1980, Celebrate inaugurated a new, expansion of its ministry through the forming of an independent corporation. The Celebrate Company is made up of 15 young musicians, plus Dr. Gieselman. The group will give over 300 performances during their nine month touring season, Rev. Fielding added.

President Mina Duggins opened the meeting and welcomed 45 members and four guests. A prayer for the sick was offered by Bob Lewis followed by group singing led by Alice Hoffman with Jack Jenkins at the piano.

Ruby Mayberry was in charge of the game session and Naomi Ronkey and Lucille Martin read several poems. Jack Jenkins accompanied Alice Hoffman, Mildred Garin and Nola Heiney as they sang special musical selections.

During the social hour Art and Alice Hoffman and Raul Westphal were honored on their birthday.

Preview not cable offering, official says

While South-Western Cable TV is not overly concerned about the advent of competition from Preview, St. Louis' first subscription television service using the airwaves, it is making plans to "plug the hole" which will be left when Channel 30 goes off the air to non-subscribers of Preview at 7 p.m. nightly.

Mary Hildebrand, director of programming for South-Western Cable TV, said she wished to clarify that Preview is not an offering of the cable service, but is a KQED-TV, Channel 30. It cannot be received on South-Western's cable, she noted.

KQED will begin "scrambling" its signals at 7 p.m. and only viewers which have a decoding box will be able to see the movies being shown. The rate for that service, entitled Preview, is $24.90 a month for this area.

Mrs. Hildebrand said she is not concerned about competition from Preview, since that fee gives the viewer only one movie at a time and for only a few hours a night. For approximately the same monthly fee, South-Western offers the Movie Channel and HBO 24 hours and the offerings of many commercial channels, she said.

However, she says some viewers, unaware of Preview, blame the cable company when Channel 30 goes black each night at 7 p.m. (since June 1). "South-Western plans to fill that channel with additional programming in the near future," Mrs. Hildebrand explained.

Twietmeyer

Duane Rankin will emcee the Saturday activities during which the talents of congregational members will be featured in the program.

A "retirement committee," headed by Elden Craft and consisting of Francis Bringer, Harold Laverne Klenle, Lorene Christ, Charles J. and Marilyn Zeller, Duane and Ruth Rankin, Evelyn Hoson and Virginia Heins, is responsible for arranging the activities.

On Sunday afternoon, June 6, the community and neighboring congregations and friends are being invited to an "Open House" social hour from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m. at the church.

Craft explained the afternoon event is designed as an unstructured period of time for personal expression to Pastor Twietmeyer and his family.

"All are invited to come and enjoy the afternoon with our pastor," the chairman said. Refreshments will be served, he added.

In the 40 years since his graduation, Pastor Twietmeyer taught for a year in the Missouri Synod's Austin Concordia College and pastored congregations in Greensburg and rural LaPort, Ind., and Birmingham, Ala., before coming to Granite City 27½ years ago.

He also began the Lutheran Church in Connersville, Ind., and initiated Lutheran services which developed into the first black Lutheran Church in Bessemer, Ala.

Rev. Twietmeyer has served the church-at-large as a member of the Southern District Board of Education and as chairman of the Southern Illinois District Committee for Evangelism and the Board for Social Ministry.

The Southern Illinois District three times elected him counselor for the Metro-Central Circuit of 13 congregations and then for two terms as a member of the District Board of Adjudication.

At various times, the pastor has served as "guest missioner" for a week of evangelism preaching in several communities, including Dattur, Ala., Shelbyville and Bremen, Ind., Duluth, Kan., Wood River, Neb., Petit-Jean, Ark., McHenry, Ill., and St. Louis.

Rev. Twietmeyer recently conducted confirmation services at Concordia when the final class of junior and adult confirmands to be instructed by the retiring minister were accepted into the church.

Among the young people confirmed were Ginger Hertz, David Painter Jr., and Michael Schuette Jr., whose fathers—Billie Hertz, David Painter Sr., and Michael Schuette Sr.—were in the very first confirmation class taught by Pastor Twietmeyer 27 years ago.

The minister and his wife are planning to make their degree at the Immanuel Baptist Church near Kansas City, Kan.

PLEADS INNOCENT

Anthony Ware, 24, of 1000 Third St., Venice, was booked on a May 1982 Granite City warrant alleging theft at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. He pleaded innocent at 4 p.m. that day and was held in lieu of $20,000 bond.

Spring Follies winners named at South High

Spirited competition in the Granite City High School South speech department's spring 1982 semester "Follies" ended in victory for Wendy Kambarian's sixth hour class, which presented "Time Machine." Tied for fourth place were Ruth Klaus' second hour class, "The Lone Stranger," and Beverly Scroggins' fourth hour class, "A Silent Movie."

Other contenders were "Leaders of the Pack," first and second hour, Richard King, "Ed Sullivan Show," seventh hour, Ruth Klaus; and "All the Years of His Life," first hour, Ruth Klaus. ## State's pension shortfall grows

State government's five major pension systems meet current payout needs but recommended funding levels are not being met by the state. And the gap between assets and liabilities is widening, Illinois Comptroller Roland W. Burris reported this week.

Moreover, Burris said, reduced state contributions in fiscal 1982 and proposed reductions in fiscal 1983 may create a gradual increase in the assets of the funds over the last decade.

Affected are the pensions for state workers, teachers, legislators, judges and university employees.

In fiscal 1972, the comptroller said, the unfunded obligations — the difference between assets and liabilities — of the five systems was $2.786 billion. By the end of fiscal 1981, the unfunded gap had grown to $1.141 billion, an increase of $2.355 billion.

Sexless pronouns may be a problem

By GARRY N. MURPHY

SUE English Prof. The news services have made a big mistake—I hope! They have been carrying an item about a Kirkland, Wash., teacher, Mary Jane Hawley, who is doing what she can to take sexism out of the language by inventing a set of sexless pronouns.

According to one report, "she" would be used for he, she and they. Instead of his, her and their, "sheir" would be used. And instead of him, her and them, it would be "shem."

Allright. Let's try the new pronouns in a sentence: "If communication between a clerk and their customers, breaks down, they will become confused and irritated, and they will be left wondering what went wrong."

Now, just who will become confused and irritated? Who will be left wondering? Everyone who tries to read that sentence, that's who! Everyone except me, of course. Since I made up the sentence I know for a fact that the first "sheir" refers to the customers and the second refers to the clerk. So I hope the news services have been mistaken and that Ms. Hawley wanted to create only a set of singular pronouns to use after words like "someone," "everyone," and "nobody." "Everyone is entitled to their own opinion."

Otherwise, poor Ms.

Hawley has probably already been backed into a very tight corner by some smart-alecky students getting their kicks at their expense.

Send your questions or comments to Prof. Garry N. Murphy, Department of English Language and Literature, Box 43, SIUE, Edwardsville, Illinois 62026.

Sharp increase in U.S. forcible rapes

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

This column is the first of several in which we'll be talking about the nature of rape and sexual assault, and what to do if it happens to you, and some "dos" and "don'ts" that may help lessen your chances of being raped.

Rape is a behavioral problem which is as old as man. Even today's ideas regarding the act and its consequences are intertwined with long-held attitudes and unfounded beliefs that reflect the historical tendency of male-dominated societies to establish values and laws based on position, race and gender.

Historically, women were not viewed as individuals. They had no legal, social or human rights. The word "rape" comes from the Latin "rapere," meaning to steal, seize or carry off. It is man's oldest method of stealing or seizing a wife.

This attitude was vividly depicted in two recent major television shows — "The War Lord," set in the time of the Druids; and "Marco Polo," set in the 13th Century.

The act of rape was committed under the guise of respectable behavior.

The assailant was often rewarded for abusing and mistreating women. To some extent, there has been no change in such thinking. Even today it is common for the victim of sexual assault to blame herself or himself. This reaction originated as far back as 500 B.C., when attitudes shifted to blaming the victim.

The choice to ignore the rape, even though it was unlawful, was made because "no woman would be taken if she didn't want it to be."

Throughout time, women have been viewed as property, and our laws and customs have reflected these views.

Clearly, rape is not confined to any one place in the world, nor to people of any particular age, gender or economic status.

People of all backgrounds and cultures are vulnerable. In the United States, in the last decade, forcible rape has had the greatest increase of all violent crimes — 50 percent.

According to an FBI Uniform Crime Report, there seems to be no indication that this pattern will be altered downward.

According to the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement, in 1980 there were 3,082 reported forcible rapes; 2,018 cases of child sexual assault; and 291 cases of deviate sexual assault. These crimes resulted in a total of 1,292 arrests. They occurred in both rural and urban areas.

In Illinois, rape is defined as follows: "A male person...14 years old and upwards who has sexual intercourse with a female, not his wife, by force and against her will, commits rape."

Intercourse by force and against her will includes, but is not limited to, any intercourse which occurs in the following situations:

- "(1) The female is unconscious; or
- "(2) The female is so mentally deranged or deficient that she cannot give consent to intercourse."

Also, sexual intercourse with a female under 18 years of age is defined as statutory rape, regardless of the circumstances.

Under Illinois law, "deviate sexual assault" occurs when any person 14 years of age or older, by force or threat of force compels any other person to perform or submit to any act of deviate sexual conduct. In Illinois, this terminology is used when the victim of sexual assault is a male.

Those who want more information about rape may contact the Rape Victims Assistance Program, Illinois Department of Public Health, 525 W. Jefferson St., Springfield, Ill. 62761.

Carnival man freed on bond in delinquency

Bryan Keith Lyness, 26, a Murphy Brothers Carnival employee, was charged Tuesday with contributing to the sexual delinquency of a Granite City minor.

Taken into custody at 3:25 p.m. Monday, Lyness gave his home address as Oakbrook, Ill. He was here in connection with the downtown Overfest; the six-day observance included the Memorial Day weekend.

He pleaded innocent in a court appearance at 4 p.m. Tuesday and was released upon posting $100 cash bond.

Lyness was described as one of the operators of a ring toss booth at the carnival. It was alleged that he invited a 13-year-old girl at 10:30 p.m. Sunday to go to his van, parked in a lot in the 1800 block of Delmar Avenue.

She reportedly remained in the van through Sunday night, returning to her home at noon Monday.

The Civics' towering (6-0) righthander, Jerry Deml, took over from Gass in the sixth and fanned four in two innings. He looked brilliant and should be a great help to the Civics in their bid for a championship at the National Baseball Congress tournament.

With six games still on tap this week starting with a single contest tonight at Edwardsville's Hoppe Park at 7:30, the Civics will have a great opportunity to find out just how strong their mound staff really is.

Bouncing right back, the Civics, without a hit, tied it up in the bottom of the first as George Vogel was safe on the base paths, and the game was tied in recent years.

Tomorrow (Friday) night, the Civics will visit the Belleville Buds at Citizens Field for a 7:45 game. Saturday afternoon at SIU-E's Cougar Field, the Civics will battle it out with the Steelmen from Springfield, Ill., in a twinbill starting at 1 p.m.

And, closing out the week, the Cougar Girardeau Capahas will text the Civics in a doubleheader at Cougar Field again starting at 1 p.m.

Sports on the Run

By Al Gerstenecker

Quad-City sports. Both North's and South's wrestling teams fared well in state competition. The best to finish was North's Steve Smith, who managed a respectable third place finish in state competition in the 119 pound class.

South's John Frangoulis looked impressive in Cham-paign this year, and is someone who should be reckoned with in 1983.

As for wrestling's sister sport, basketball, Madison remains the Quad-City area's powerhouse. Despite the Trojans' early elimination this year, coach Larry Graham and the Trojans should rebound in 1983.

Fall sports in Granite City are something I haven't had the pleasure of covering as of yet, but one thing is for sure, no matter how far from the Quad-Cities you travel, Soccer reigns.

Despite South's defeat to Collinsville in regional competition, as the saying goes "the South shall rise again." That may be true, but rumor has it that North may have the upper hand on the soccer field this year.

This now summer (or soon will be). The final week of school is upon Quad-City students. The swimming pools are open, resounding baseball bats and cheering parents override the noise of overhead jets in the acres of Wilson Park. It is time to switch from high school athletics to favorite summer sports and pastimes.

It is our intention at the Press-Record to provide are readers with a quality of sports coverage and a quantity that will appeal to the sports sense of as many of our readers as possible. During the period between seasons, we—the members of the P-R sports staff—will make every effort to provide as smooth a transition between seasons with the intent to neglect no one.

It is our thinking that Granite Cityans help make the Press-Record the reputable and well-accepted newspaper which it is. It is our intent to report Granite Cityans in their favorite summer sporting pastimes. Story and feature suggestions, comments, criticisms and story and feature suggestions are welcome, and may be telephoned in or may be submitted in writing to the Press-Record sports desk. We serve you.

Burglars Armed forces student test to remain voluntary here

didn't take holiday off

Aware that many Granite Cityans would utilize the long Memorial Day observance for out-of-town trips, burglars kept busy here during the holiday weekend.

An intruder obtained $466 in currency after breaking a window at the apartment of Dennis Simpson, 2412 (rear) Madison Ave.

The Smithway Trucking Co. truck terminal office at 1503 State St. was looted of two $1,000 electric typewriters, two $300 desktop calculators, $500 in cash from a bag, two $20 pocket calculators and $20 in coins, the latter obtained by breaking open a cigarette machine. Entry to the building was gained by forcing open a door.

Breaking a door window, a burglar took records and tapes worth $800, a $655 stereo, coins totaling $125, a $500 drill, a $32 watch, another watch and a $30 cassette player from the residence of Eugene Smart Jr., 2442 Adams St.

A stereo unit and a .22-caliber short-stock rifle were taken in a burglary at the Rex Gehlbach apartment, 1738a Cleveland Blvd. Entry was gained by prying a door.

A list of missing items is being prepared by Gilbert Thomas, 2041 State St. His home was entered during the weekend by someone who threw a brick through a door window. Drawers and cabinets were ransacked. Emerson Grade School, 20th and Benton streets, was entered by two persons who ransacked all teacher desks and some cabinets after breaking a window to gain access. The pair stole, cooked and ate sandwiches and also consumed soda and ice cream.

Frying open a door at the David Roudland residence, 2540 Edwards St., a burglar ransacked a bedroom and took coins, wallet, keys, licenses, cards and a check-book.

Three parked vehicles also were looted over the holiday, tools valued at $2,000 being taken from the camper truck of Kenneth Jones, 309 Wilson Park Lane, in front of his home; a $112 chrome-plated .32-caliber revolver from the car of the Dunham family, 200 block of Nimeski Drive, while the auto was parked at Niedringhaus and Edison avenues for the holiday weekend; and a $300 citizen band radio plus a .22-caliber rifle worth $200 from the van of Randall Welch, 2121 Delmar Ave., parked in a lot in the 2100 block of Delmar.

Phillip Jalme, 1643 Spruce St., reported last week that vandals had damaged a shed and its contents on property he owns at 2187 Benton St. Two windows and two panels were broken on the shed and a lock had been pried off the door, he said. Considerable damage also was apparent to an electric stove inside and it appeared that vandals had tried to start a fire, Jalme reported.

apitude test currently available is the GTAB (General Aptitude Test Battery). If any change is made in the aptitude test, this should receive our consideration.

"Many of our counselors are expressing the opinion that any district-wide aptitude test at the secondary level is questionable as to its value versus the amount of time spent administering and interpreting it. I will be asking our senior high counselors and the testing committee to study the merits of using an achievement test in lieu of an aptitude test for this level."

"An instrument such as the CTBS (Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills) can provide a student profile revealing the difference between the anticipated level and the actual achievement level of each student.

"This instrument could also satisfy the State Board of Education's requirement for testing for program evaluation. "I also believe that it can show us the effectiveness of tracking — or lack of it — at the senior high level."

Tracking involves the separation of students into various proficiency groups.

Warren Collins, administrative assistant for Granite City School Board on Tuesday night of plans to continue offering the ASVAB test on a voluntary basis. The acronym stands for Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery.

He related, "At your request, a subcommittee of the testing committee reviewed the armed services aptitude test to determine the possibility of using it as a replacement for the DAT (Differential Aptitude test)."

"The bottom line of its report is that the ASVAB should not be administered to all 10th grade students in lieu of the DAT. It should remain a voluntary test."

Collins added, "The reasons are academic and philosophical. The district has gone on record opposing the release of student names and addresses to military recruiters."

"Because the DAT is a mandatory test, its replacement with the ASVAB would make this very information available to the military."

"It is also questionable that parents would want their children being required to take this test. Academically, the best
